

THE PARTY LEADER LESSON • LESSON 6 OF 6

Lead Your AI Squad

45 minutes, no prep. The hook: an AI agent does a multi-step job on its own — where your card is vague, it guesses forward. Stands alone.

AT A GLANCE

TIME	MATERIALS	TECH NEEDED	PREP
45 min	Run the Quest worksheet (2 pp; typeable PDF included) · Slides (optional) · scrap paper (1 per student) · board · Teacher Guide	None — unplugged. Optional: projector; your AI account (with-devices block, p.2)	Print worksheets. Plan teams of 3. That's it.

OBJECTIVES & STANDARDS

- Write a four-part quest card an agent can't misread. (Step 2; Exit #1)
- Do one squad role (planner, scout, critic) from the card alone. (Step 3; Exit #2)
- Review work with the CHECK rubric; write a specific run-it-back note. (Step 4; Exit #3)

✓ WARM-UP — IT DID EXACTLY WHAT YOU SAID (7 MIN)

Your new party member: maxed stats, never sleeps, never complains — painfully literal. Last night's run:

"Guard the door." → Guarded the door. Only the door. The enemies came in through the window.

"Grab everything in the chest." → Everything. Including the cursed amulet with the obvious skull on it.

"Wait here." → Still waiting. It has been three in-game days.

Then ask: whose fault was that — the party member's, or the orders?

Bridge: "An AI agent does a multi-step job on its own — and where your card is vague, it guesses forward. That's why the leader checks. You'll never out-work it. You CAN out-lead it."

What if nobody laughs? Take a fourth order from the room and ruin it too: "Heal me" → healed you. Once.

Transition: "Today you learn the leader's loop: quest card, roles, check the loot — ship it or run it back."

DIRECT INSTRUCTION — THE PARTY LEADER'S LOOP (10 MIN)

Board: QUEST CARD → ROLES → CHECK THE LOOT → SHIP IT or RUN IT BACK.

QUEST CARD — four parts, in writing: goal (what winning means), what we know (who it's for, what the team has), rules of the run (length, tone, deadline), done looks like (the exact thing handed back). (If your class did the genie lesson: this is P.R.O. grown up.)

ROLES — nobody solos the raid: a planner, a scout, a critic — same card, one slice each.

CHECK THE LOOT — accuracy (facts match the card; every ✓ has a "how we know"), taste (fits the audience and tone — or could it be for anybody?), done-ness (everything the card asked for?). Weak work gets a run-it-back note: keep + fix.

Watch one get fixed — build it on the board, one labeled part at a time. Cursed order: "Plan the game night." → Party leader's quest card: "GOAL: get 6th graders to actually show up to Game Night. WHAT WE KNOW: Friday, gym, 6–8 pm; we have board games and two TVs. RULES OF THE RUN: school-appropriate, big readable title, 40 words max. DONE LOOKS LIKE: one flyer draft, ready to photocopy." Then, plainly: "Party leaders don't do the quest twice. If you have to redo a party member's work, your quest card failed. Fix the card, not just the work."

What if "too long"? Count it — four lines. "Four lines now, or 'games all night' on the flyer later."

Hand-out: "Page 1. Teams of 3. Pick your quest, then ONE card per team — everyone copies it. Six minutes."

ACTIVITY — RUN THE QUEST (22 MIN)

1. Write the quest card (6 min): teams of 3 (30 students = 10 teams) pick a quest on the worksheet — Game Night page or class magazine issue #1 — and write ONE card, all four parts.

What if a team stalls on GOAL? "What would make you say we won?" Done early? A neighbor team tries to twist it.

Switch: "Cards done. Now switch: for 8 minutes YOU play an AI agent. Take a role card. Silence starts now."

2. Squad works (8 min): each teammate takes a role card and works ONLY from the quest card, silently, on scrap paper. At 4 min: "Planners, slide your list to your Critic." The critic writes 3 upgrades to that plan. No questions — agents can't read minds. (Sana's squad: DeShawn plans, Lucia scouts, Sana critiques.)

What if the class doesn't divide by 3? Team of 4: two critics. Team of 2: no critic — the leader does the taste check. Mid-round question? "It's not on the card."

Swap: "Time. Pass your paper one seat left. You're the leader again — page 2."

3. Leader review (8 min): each leader runs the CHECK rubric (worksheet p.2) on the work in their hands, ticks SHIP IT or RUN IT BACK per check, and writes one run-it-back note. Leave the rubric slide up.

What if a leader turns harsh? KEEP before FIX, and they read the note aloud to their party member.

Into the exit ticket: "Loot checked. Last quest: one for your own life. Bottom of page 2, solo."

EXIT TICKET (6 MIN)

Worksheet p.2, solo: #1 a quest card for a real task in their own life, all four parts; #2 which role gets it first, and why; #3 the check it would most likely fail, and what to look for. Collect; key: Teacher Guide, p.2.

What if a student writes a wish ("help me with math")? "Which part would stop a stranger guessing? Add it."

DIFFERENTIATION

Support: sentence starters (Teacher Guide, p.3). ELL: draft in the strongest language first, then translate.

Extension: a card so tight the critic can't land a note. No devices: built in.

With devices (optional — teacher's projected account only; students never log in):

1. Paste a team's card word for word. Add: "Do the planner's job, then the scout's."
2. Review it as a class with the CHECK rubric — SHIP IT or RUN IT BACK per check.
3. Watch for an invented fact ("games all night"), a skipped rule, an extra step.
4. Fix the card, not the output: add the missing rule, run it again, compare.
5. Time: 6–8 min. Swap in for one team's Leader review, or open day 2 with it.
