Cursed Wish Repair Shop

Name: _____ Class: _____ Date: _____

The genie's one rule: it grants exactly what you SAY — never what you MEANT. Genie-proof your wish with the three P.R.O. clauses:

- P — Purpose: what you want + who it's for
- R — Requirements: the fine print — length, tone, format, include / avoid
- O — Output: what the granted wish should look like

CURSED WISH #1 — AMARA'S SPACE POSTER

Amara's science poster is due Friday. She typed "tell me about space" — and got 40 pages on the history of NASA. Rewrite her wish so the genie can't miss:

CURSED WISH #2 — MATEO'S HEADPHONE FUND

Mateo gets $15 a week and wants $120 headphones. He typed "help me save money" — the genie answered: "Stop buying things." Rewrite his wish:

CURSED WISH #3 — YUKI'S HERO STORY

Yuki wants an anime-style story for the class zine. She typed "make a story about a hero" — the genie wrote: "Once there was a hero. The end." Rewrite her wish:

✦ BE THE WORST GENIE EVER — BREAK YOUR PARTNER’S WISHES

Swap sheets. Read each repaired wish like a literal genie looking for a loophole, then score it:

GENIE-PROOF CHECKLIST	WISH 1	WISH 2	WISH 3
P — Clear purpose and audience?
R — At least 2 pieces of fine print (length, tone, format, include/avoid)?
O — Says what the output should look like?
✦ Genie test — Can you still twist this wish? (X = genie-proof!)

The sneakiest way you could twist one of their wishes (be specific — which wish, and how?):

✦ EXIT TICKET

1. Write one genie-proof prompt you could really use this week for another class:

2. Genies are tricksters: AI can grant your wish with facts it made up — and sound totally confident. Name ONE thing in an AI answer you'd double-check, and where you'd check it. (No AI in class today? Imagine the answer you'd expect back.)

Keep it 100: If the genie does your homework, your name is on a wish you never earned — and teachers can tell. Use AI to think WITH you, not FOR you.
